

South Africa: SA Scientists Create Cheap Computers for Schools

All Africa Friday 22nd May, 2015

A team of students and professors at the University of the Witwatersrand who are searching for the secrets of the universe, are also hoping to fundamentally change the educational system of the country with locally produced low-cost computers for pupils.

Professors and students with the university's High Energy Physics group, who are involved in dealing with "big data" from the European Organisation for Nuclear Research's (Cern) Large Hadron Collider (LHC), are also spearheading a project to create low cost PCs or tablets that could possibly be in the hands of each pupil in the country in t...

Fans overwhelmed with return of international cricket to Pakistan

The first T20 international between Pakistan and Zimbabwe at the Gaddafi Stadium in Lahore has been given an overwhelming thumbs-up by cricket fans, who expressed satisfaction over the return of international cricket to Pakistan after six years.

Pakistan's victory, they said gave them reasons to celebrate in a festival-like manner.

However, journalists covering the match, said they were inconvenienced by the fact that Pakistan Cricket Board (PCB) officials, who have their offices in front of the two-media rooms, bringing friends and relatives to see the match, the Dawn reports.

Six years ago, terrorists attacked the Sri Lankan cricket team bus, killing six people and leaving eight players injured. (ANI)
